What You Get With

SITEX

What You Get With Other Safety Companies

Service

- ✓ A consultative, full-service approach that identifies all project safety needs and tailors expert plans to address them sufficiently.

- Commonly focused only on individual tasks or certain aspects of a project.

Consistency

- ✓ Career safety workers are placed into projects for the intended duration, providing stability, familiarity, and valuable on-site knowledge of threats and hazards.

- New faces in new places: Team members are replaced regularly or periodically, sometimes with temporary labor – restarting the project familiarization process.

Continuous Improvement

- ✓ On-site staff leaders provide continuous improvement by maintaining an interactive cadence with CSPs and CIHs at headquarters to discuss tasks, tactics, and concerns.

- Individuals on projects have limited knowledge and experience. Often they must rely on resources like internet searches to answer questions or solve problems.

Expertise

- ✓ Often with advanced degrees and specific certifications, SITEX's safety and compliance experts have the education and training to overcome the challenges of any job.

- Many subs and contractors are minimally certified or meet only the minimum compliance requirements for these important safety roles.

Pricing

- ✓ Clear, inclusive pricing that covers the entire job, including equipment, to eliminate surprise invoices after completion of a project.

- Hidden charges like equipment rental and travel expenses that aren't itemized or factored into the initial bid.

Relationships

- ✓ A focus on building strong client relationships for long-term safety programs that improve the client's safety culture, the industry, and safety delivery as a whole.

- A focus on growth and profit that fosters minimal standards and erodes the progress of industrial safety as a critical means to save lives and eliminate unnecessary risks.
